

This week our team met with our client Radek and our advisor to elicit requirements from the client for the project. During this talk we discussed the hardware needs of our group such as a piece of polycarbonate that will act as our windshield. Notes were gathered for use in the project plan. Looking towards the upcoming week our team will hit the ground running writing the project plan. Lastly, we are looking into eye tracking equipment that our team will use for this project and report back to Radek to get the equipment ordered.
